The CSNCH Employer Forum creates a yearly platform for career service professionals and recruiters, campus marketing and employer branding specialists to network, discuss hot topics and exchange best practice.

The Employer Forum is an invitation from us, the Swiss Career Services, to our corporate partners. We look forward to your registration and to many exciting discussions.

The hot topic of this year's edition of the CSNCH Employer Forum are the future skills of university graduates. Which competencies will be needed in the future and how can career services contribute in this area to student's future employability.

We - universities and employers together - want to ask questions and find answers. Therefore, we will have an exciting keynote and work together in a BarCamp.

Keynote

Erik Fernholm is an entrepreneur in motivation research and a thought leader which is appreciated as a speaker, trainer and CEO. With his academic background in neuroscience, motivation and happiness research gives Eric powerful perspectives and tools for wellbeing and self leadership in an increasingly complex world. His strength lies in making the startling psychology into something you experience from the chair, understand, and most importantly - can use in everyday life.

What is a BarCamp?

BarCamp is an interactive conference method in which the inviters set a thematic framework and the participants themselves introduce those issues and concerns that interest them most in relation to the thematic framework.

Our BarCamp at the 2023 CSNCH Employer Forum will be organized by Michael Hasler, the most experienced BarCamp-expert in Switzerland.
