Exchange Student Information:

Portuguese Language Courses	Portuguese Extensive Course (4 ECTS) 2 classes per week (3h/week) during the semester. This course is free for incoming students of the Faculty of Human Sciences. Further information: http://fch.lisboa.ucp.pt/about-fch/services/incoming-students/portuguese-language-programs
Health Insurance Requirements	EU students: European Health Card Non-EU students: Private insurance
Online Application	Students will receive an email with the link to the online application form after being nominated by their home university. Students should submit their application online and provide additional documents: transcript of records and a copy of identity card or passport.
Accommodation	The university does not have accommodation for students, but can help them find lodging in Lisbon. Students will receive an email with websites and platforms that announce accommodation offers. However, the university does not have any agreement with them. We suggest students to start looking for accommodation well in advance because of the high demand in Lisbon nowadays. The Universidade Católica Portuguesa has a private Female Students' Residence Hall in Lisbon. Students should contact the Residence Hall for further information.
Lisbon: Cost of Living	Living in Lisbon is affordable. Students can spend an average of €700 / €800 per month . <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Housing (per month): €300 to €400</li><li>• Food (per month): €250 to €350</li><li>• Meal in the canteen of the university: ~€4</li><li>• Meal in a restaurant: €8 to €12</li><li>• Coffee (Espresso): €0.65</li><li>• Transportation (monthly pass): €30 (Lisbon only), €40 (Greater Lisbon Area) (25% discount for students aged 23 or under)</li><li>• Subway ticket: €1.50</li><li>• Cinema: €6 / €8 - Museum: €10</li><li>• Nightclub: €8 / €12</li></ul>
