Art. 3 – Conflict of interests
To ensure transparency and fairness in the conduct of the procedure, any potential conflict of interests involving members of the Faculty’s Review Committee and of the Tenure Committee must be declared to, and discussed with, the Dean. Where a personal or professional conflict of interest should occur between any Committee member and a candidate, the former must inform the Dean in writing.

Potential conflicts of interest in the personal or professional sphere notably include:

1. A close family tie between the candidate and one or more member(s) of the Committees;
2. A professional hierarchical connection (doctoral or post-doctoral tutor or supervisor);
3. A relation of close collaboration.

3 The Committee is chaired by the Faculty Dean, unless a conflict of interests has been detected.

Art. 5a – Review Committee of the Faculty: communications

1 The composition of the Faculty’s Review Committee is defined by the Council of professors in absence of the person concerned.

c) services rendered to the academic and professional communities.

2 In its evaluation, the Committee relies on the following documents:

2 The external experts are designated by the Review Committee of the Faculty.

3 The candidate may provide the Committee Chairman with the names of any expert(s) he considers to be negatively biased against him. The Chairman relays this information to the Review Committee of the Faculty.

4 Barring all personal conflicts of interests, the chairman of the Review Committee of the Faculty is exclusively in charge of requesting information from the appointed experts and expected to thoroughly record any contact with them.

5 All the evaluation letters received must be enclosed with the report of the Faculty’s Review Committee. The Report must mention the names of all experts, including those who may not have responded or did not accept to serve as experts, with their reasons for declining, where provided.

3 The Tenure Committee is chaired by one of its members.

Art. 10 – Tenure-track Committee: remit

1 The Tenure Committee operates as a university committee and as such does not represent any one USI Faculty. It pronounces exclusively on the procedure described in Art. 1 paragraph 2.b, ascertaining the correct application of the same and guaranteeing a uniform level of quality across Faculties.

2 The Committee rules on the basis of the file and report supplied by the Review Committee of the Faculty; where necessary, it may call for additional information (from inside or outside sources).

3 The Tenure Committee drafts its report for the attention of the University Council. This report must be transparent and exhaustive, including any possible minority opinions.
